DEAR EDITOR.

They Can't Spell

Maybe it's just me but it just seems as if four out of five of our children don't know how to spell. Now I don't know who's to blame for this—maybe the human race is getting dumber or the English language is getting harder.

And then again I am led to believe that it may be all the teachers' fault. Teachers have become so concerned about the children's psychological adjustment that when the kids graduate they emerge blissfully adjusted to ignorance.

Now why can't the Board of Education do something about this—until such time at least that someone will invent a self-spelling typewriter.

Your respectfully,
J. B.

Chiefs Named At Local Tribal Meet

Re-elected chiefs were Thomas Shepherd, Indian Runner, and John Bugg, assistant Indian Runner.

This Saturday, October 2, has been officially designated as "Woodcraft Ranger Day" at the Los Angeles County Fair, and local Rangers are anticipating the trip to Pomona to visit the Woodcraft Ranger booth. The boys will be admitted free upon presentation of their membership card at the gate.

Also on the agenda for the coming year will be weekend trips to the three Woodcraft Ranger Camps in the Los Angeles area . . . Stanley Ranch near Newhall, Camp Ah-Da-Hi near Mt. Wilson, and the Lake Arrowhead Camp.

The Little Arrow Tribes, meets at Normandale Playground every Monday evening from 7 to 8:30 p.m.
